

To Any Future Year Seven Student,

This is a letter to reassure you that Year Seven will be one of the best years of your life so far!

All I needed on my first day was a hand on my shoulder and I am hoping to be that hand for you.

On my first day I wanted my mum to drive me, she wouldn't, but I made myself get on the school bus with all the other Year Sevens and I'm still friends with the people at my bus stop today so I'm glad that I got on that bus.

My advice is don't worry, just go for it, things are never as bad as you imagine!

When I got to school, after one of the best bus journeys I've ever had, I walked straight into about ten of my friends from my primary school and for the rest of the day we stuck together. It was great! I still love secondary school and I will be looking out for you when you get here!

Now I hope I have helped you see that Longhill is an amazing school and that even the homework isn't that bad...

A hand on your shoulder,

Gene
